The horse got in very light and Oxx sent him to the post in grand shape. Lowiander led all the way and won a big stake for his owner. Lowe had no his stake for his owner, at Guttenburg, and he bet the last money he had on his horse, getting long odds for it. The win put him on his feet once more. This year it has been impossible to get Lowiander to a race and finally the trouble set in which is now killing him.

RACE TRACK, SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Sept. 1.—The usual Saturday crowd journeyed town to the races to-day. There were about 7,000 persons present, all eager and ready for the tussle with the bookmakers. The weather was delightfully cool, and pleasant, and the track was fast as lighting. Everything was favorable for a grand day's sport. The racing began with a dash over the Futurity course. Correction was a hot favorite. This wearer of the Morris colors generally goes to the post a favorite, even if she is a fickle jade. She managed to win for them this time, though it was a hard scramble. Rubloon was dangerously close at the end. Harrington was a good third. Gallies, who was second choice, was never in the hunt.
